Warner Theatre presents

Oliver!

with luncheon at the Cambridge House Brew Pub

Sunday, March 28, 2010

Oliver, hailed the world over as one of the best-loved family musicals of all time, vividly brings to life Dickens' timeless characters with its ever-popular story of the boy who uttered the famous line, "please sir, may I have some more?" Loosely based on the famous Charles Dickens novel, Oliver Twist, this is a touching tale of a young boy who lives in a workhouse with other orphaned boys. When Oliver disrupts a meal by asking for more, he is sold to a local undertaker and his family. They treat Oliver horribly and make him sleep under the coffins. Oliver escapes and runs off to Paddington Green, where he quickly befriends another young boy, the Artful Dodger. Dodger takes him to his home, an academy for orphans who learn how to be pick-pockets run by a kind, yet slightly sinister, old gentleman named Fagin. When Oliver goes on his first pick-pocketing job, he is caught by the police. As Fagin tries to save him, all Oliver wants to do is go to his uncle and live a good life.

The sensational score is full of irresistible musical standards, including "Food, Glorious Food", "Consider Yourself", "As Long as He Needs Me", "You've Got to Pick a Pocket or Two", "Oom-Pah-Pah" and "Where is Love?".

Before the show, we'll dine at the new Cambridge House Brew Pub, adjoining the Warner Theatre. It's owners sought to combine the look of a classic English pub with the casual, "everybody-knows-your-name" ambience of a neighborhood place. In other words, you'll feel at home here. Unlike some brew pubs, the chef at The Cambridge House plays second fiddle to no one. (Other restaurants are available on request.)
